Ethical Responsibilities of Authors

Maintaining integrity of the research and its presentation can be achieved by following the rules of good scientific practice, which include:

- ✓ The manuscript has not been submitted elsewhere for simultaneous consideration.
- ✓ The manuscript has not been published previously (partly or in full), unless the new work concerns an expansion of previous work.
- ✓ A single study is not split up into several parts to increase the quantity of submissions.
- ✓ No data have been fabricated or manipulated (including images) to support your conclusions
- ✓ No data, text, or theories by others are presented as if they were the author's own.
- ✓ Proper acknowledgements to other works must be given (this includes material that is closely copied (near verbatim), summarized and/or paraphrased), quotation marks are used for verbatim copying of material, and permissions are secured for material that is copyrighted.
